A medical emergency is an acute injury or illness that poses an immediate risk to a person's life or long-term health. These emergencies may require assistance from another person, who should ideally be suitably qualified to do so, although some of these emergencies such as cardiovascular (heart), respiratory, and gastrointestinal cannot be dealt with by the victim themselves.

Next let's talk about emergency kits for your pet. This is my emergency kit for my pooch Harper, it contains a towel, food, water, and extra food dish, a leash, a toy, and her medicine (she has terrible allergies so Children's Benadryl is a staple).

How to Put Together an Emergency Preparedness Kit

Having health insurance is important for several reasons. Uninsured people receive less medical care and less timely care, they have worse health outcomes, and lack of insurance is a fiscal burden for them and their families.

* A Rand Corporation study tracked the healthcare spending of 2,756 families over periods of either three or five years during 1974-1982. The families were given insurance plans that covered all healthcare expenses above $1,000 per year or a reduced amount for lower-income families so that healthcare expenses could never exceed certain portions of their income.
